UCC students demonstrate their professionalism by using the following netiquette commitment for online interactions

Be respectful!

Treat others with compassion and respect in all communications. We are flexibly adjusting to the new virtual reality.

Avoid emotionally charged language!

Your audience can't hear your tone, so be calm and use appropriate communication strategies. Use professional language, avoid capital letters and bold characters.

Write clearly & concisely

Communicate your ideas or concerns as effectively as possible. Take a few minutes to review what you have written before you post.

Post your question to the correct source

Be sure to direct your concern to the appropriate student support office. Avoid the "reply all", communicate directly with the e-mail sender.
